Sarator

Come all ye shipmates kind an dear
And the truth you soon shall hear
Of the Ship St. George in the Arabian sea
Who is raising hell it seems to me

2 The way we try to get our grease
Is to strike three whales and save a piece
Besides two whales of indiarubber
The boatsteerer swore to be slack blubber

3 Now poor advice I freely lend
Of away I highly recomend
To take a crowbar and punch a hole drive in the horn and the pole

4 Young to your line till all is blue
Either kill him or he kill you
We want a man upon the docket
To go ahead like david Crockett

5 Bombaing men at our expense
Takes our dollars with our pence
Besids it throws our work away
This thing I'm sure will never pay

6 To see the whales was once the cry
They are here where ere you turn your eye
They have chaced from rise to sitting sun
Been on a dozen and killed but one

7 A man thats taught in a bowhead school
Will find himself here but a fool

Wednesday November 27th 1850

Strong gales from the Eastward at 9 AM saw a Shoal of Sperm Whales. but concidered the weather unfit to lower. but kept sun of the whales until dark weather no better. it is rather hard after cruising about four or five months to see whales and finally when we do see them it is a gale of wind it is hard but I suppose the most of people would say it is fair. At 1 P M the wind moderated but still a hard Swell took the head alongside and finally made out to save the Junk but found that the case was all gone, but as the old saying is half a loaf is better than no bread. Latter part of the day moderate and the weather has the appearance of being fine for a spell I almost wish I had cant taken Barometer for it has been good weather by that for the last fortnight but I havent seen any of it yet

Wednesday December 4th 1850

Moderate breezes from the N W ward and a very heavy swell from the S. at 2 P M finished boiling and got all ready for stowing down as soon as the oil gets cool at 4 P M got Latitudes

Thursday December 12th

Comes with a moderate breese from the Northward and fine weather at 5 A.M saw 1 Sperm Whales and Lowerd 2 boats at a little past 6 the Larboard boat struck a very larg whale the whale sounded a little a sise up and appeared to be quiet and resigned to his fate and Mr B was in the act of going up to lance him when he got within a few fathoms of him the whale missed for the boat and rooled jaw up and as quick as thought he bit her in too somewhair about the after thwart, but that was nothing uncommon but he was so intent upon his business that we could scarcely pick up the crew of the Stove boat two of which was hurt quite seriously but finally took them to the Ship and dressed their woonds which took an hour and a half and all this time the whale kept to work on the boat and she looked like so many peices of pine it is quite useless for me to try to discribe how fine he used her up even breaking the oars mast and every thing that was large enough

for him to get at, and another very uncommon thing was that 2 more whales kept with him nearly all this time while he never left the boat for one minute. finally after letting him spew the boat for nearly 2 hours I concluded to let him take a bite at the Ship so we got our body Stationed ready to dart some kind of craft in him. but he managed to get out of the way so we did not hurt him although pricked him but we stood along and come back on the other tack. the whale was heading a point to the leward of the Ships Stern and perfectly still (right alongside of some of the pieces of the Stoven boat) and when I thought the Ship would shoot alongside of him with the head yards ahack it was done. and at the same time the whale killed and came right for the head of the bow (to all appearances with all his might) and the ship was going at the time certainly 6 or 7 knots. the whale was certainly coming towards her for I when he struck her a little below light water mark which broke the plank 3 timbers and let the Ship to leaking but not very bad. but all that keeps the water out is the sheathing managed by cutting away the lining (which was broke also to stop the leak in a measure. concluded that it would not be prudent to stop on whaling ground and run the risk of having a gale of wind. put away for Rio Janeiro which is at least 1750 miles from here altitudes taken at 4:20 Pm 12th Dec

W. If this is geting along indeed. I dont Know what to do with myself. Talk about trouble I never Knew what trouble was before and I should like to know what I have done to deserve this keep. it takes away my appetite and in fact Kills me right out and out and I believe if it holds calm much longer I shall loose what little reason I have got. Now is the time I suppose people want christian fortitude to bear up under such afflictions. but I suppose I must bear it without the help of such things I'll wind dead a head and hazy weather

By the Land the Chronometer is about 35 miles to the East of the Ship

P M the same Steering in for the Land bent the old main Sail and main top Sail at dark Shortened Sail Ship heading N.E. weather very moderate

Mossafuera

Thursday May 1st 1851

D m very moderate and calm saw several fin backs. at 10 went ashore to see if I could get some wood and peaches but found it was too late for peaches and rather a dear place for wood but I dont know but I shall have to get some for I think I had ~~ra~~ ther pay a pretty good price for it here than to go whair my crew can have a chance to run away at it D M very moderate at 4 went a board the Anna Ruth ander and stoped all night with my boats crew 2:48½ 10:34

Friday 2nd

D m a brisk breze from the South ward at 7 A M got a board and steered in to the Leward of the Island at 10 wind brewed took in fore and main sail and double reefd top sails at 12 got in under the lea of the Land

D M the same found it was too rugged to whale out side so I sent two boats a fishing at 6 the boats returned with about 100 fish wind brewing and has the appearance of a gale took in all sail but double reefd main top sail and fore top mast staysail at mid night close reefd main top sail

Brisk Breezes ship headed S.S.W. at daylight made sail. Saw a brig and bark bound to the North saw several finbacks but nothing that looks like a Sperm whale. Sat at M. 9:24 Long by act. 79:30 it is now one year since I left home with C what feelings but I have but very little to say upon that subject for I certainly dont feel much better now but my feelings are of a rather different kind. I felt when leaving home very disagreable on account of leaving my mercenary friends. but hope whispered it was for a short time. but I have met with so many disapointments since that. Hope begins to pout. but what can I do but Grin Well Say it is that fellow never was beat yet entirely and If we all try as hard as we can and dont get a voyage I think it will be the first.

but at present it looks rather dark one year out with one hundred and fifty bbls. and now it seems almost impossible for us to catch a black fish. I have been cruising them all the afternoon. in hopes to get some to recruit the ship with but cant catch them but I can do nothing but try. but I must go into port some time between this and the first of next month and then oh what a time on the Coast of Peru to but cant help it. it must be done. all that I have been hoping for this month is a whale. in hopes to get one before we got in. but I am all most discouraged 3:23½ S & W the same at dark took in sail and wore ship to S.E.
